Dear Ms. Thurston:

On behalf of Olga Dazzo, Director of the Michigan Department of Community Health, the Michigan Public Health Week Partnership is pleased to announce Just B Yoga has been chosen to receive a 2012 Hometown Health Hero award. This award recognizes individuals and organizations across the state working tirelessly to maintain and improve the health of their local communities.

Michigan will celebrate Public Health Week on April 23-27, 2012. The theme this year is "A Healthier America Begins Today: Join the Movement." The Hometown Health Hero award is a major part of the annual Public Health Week observance in Michigan. We received many note-worthy nominations from across the state, and it gives us great pleasure to award you this special honor for your accomplishments and dedication to your community's health and well-being.

You are invited to attend the Public Health Week 2012 event, which will be held at the Capitol Rotunda at 11:30 am on April 25. This is a special event to recognize all of Michigan's Hometown Health Heroes and Health Policy Champions. Immediately following the event, please join us at a reception in your honor at the Capitol View Building, located across the street from the Capitol. The Capitol View Building is at 201 Townsend St., and the reception is on the first floor in the Manty Conference Center. Please RSVP to me by April 16 at kovalj@michigan.gov or 517-335-9732.

Again, thank you for all that you do and congratulations on receiving this honor!

Sincerely,
